

I have thoroughly enjoyed the lack of nuisance phone calls.

If I am interested in a product from any source, I will contact them. If they contact me, I will definitely not purchase from them.

If they are selling a product or service for which I am searching, anybody that contacts me directly will automatically be disqualified from my list of potential providers. Therefore, it would be counter-productive for them to annoy me against my will.

Thank you.

Phil Toepp